BIG SLOOPS MAKE BRILLIANT START

Yachtsmen Stirred at Larchmont as Craft Heel Under Great Press of Canvas.

Squally Northwester Provides Some Spirited Contests on the Second Day of "Race Week."

Not since they were launched, five years ago, have the big sloop yachts Istalena, Winsome and Aurora made such a brillfant and sensational start as they did yesterday, in the second series race of the Larchmont Yacht Club's "race week." The hundreds of yachtsmen who witnessed this spirited scene agreed that it was the feature of the day's sport, in which 110 yachts, divided into twentynine classes, took part.

In a squally northwester that covered the Sound with whitecaps these three giant sloops, with sheets eased to starboard and carefully timed by their respective skippers, approached the line from the westward. Under a tremendous press of canvas-for they were carrying club topsails over their great mainsailsthey heeled until more than half their green weather bilges were glistening in the sunlight and their lee decks were buried in a smother of foam.

It was estimated that they were travel ling at a speed of fifteen knots when they dashed across the line, a few second after the signal from the committee boat, the C. P. Raymond. E. Trowbridge Hall's Winsome, steered by A. G. Hanan, had the weather berth, but the Istalena, handled by her skipper, was leading by half a length, while Cornelius Vanderbilt, at the helm of his Aurora, had berthed her at the lee end of the line, and so, getting his wind clear, was able to lay his course east-northeast for the first mark. The Winsome blanketed the Istalena for a few minutes, but soon after they straight ened out for their 514-mile reach.

The first leg of the course for "a hands" was a reach, the second a reac on the other "gybe" and the third short beat across the Sound. Because the unavoidable dragging of the ancho of the committee boat the imaginary liv was a short one, and in such a breeze was a treat to watch the clever handlir of the yachts in the smaller classes b their amateur skippers, all of whom n gotiated this narrow channel without

Five minutes after the big sloops were sent away, at 12:45 o'clock, the new Gardner sloop, the Medora, led the Adventuress across the line by about a length Then came the P class-the Joyant, the Windward, the Corinthian and the Cara Mia-in that order, and five minutes later eleven of the New York Yacht Club's "thirties" made a spirited start, led by the Rowdy For the first time this season all of the eight Sound schooners started, and they made a good showing in the strong breeze. The Rival, which carried no topsail, crossed the line too soon, and was recalled. The Alys II, owned by F. Coudert, carried no foresail at the start.

Both Narragansett Bay sloops—the Momo and the Idler—carried two reefs, and several others were reefed. J. L. Mitchell's 2:17:07; Claire, C. F. Q class sloop Essex carried away her mast on the second round of the eleven and a half mile course, and was towed to the harbor by Mrs. Black's steam yacht Reposo II. W. R. Berth's sloop Kenosha, of New Rochelle, carried away her bowsprit, and was also towed in.

Several of the small craft did not finish The times of the big sloops taken at the end of the first round of their 1514-mile course were: Winsome, 2:15:15; Aurora. 2:15:36; Istalena, 2:15:37. By this it will be seen that the Winsome was leading the Aurora by 15 seconds and the Istalena by 42 seconds. MATTY DOES IT AGAIN

Leads Giants to Victory Over Dozing Cincinnati Reds.

McGraw's Men Need Only Two More Victories to Break Better than Even on Trip.

[By Telegraph to The Tribuna.] Cincinnati, July 22 .- It was easy for the Giants to win to-day. They had "Big Six" on the firing line, and he held the Reds in the hollow of his hand all the way through. The Giants began their bombardment of Suggs in the second inning. Merkle singled, and a wild pitch put him on second. Murray hit to Esmond, and Merkle was trapped and went out, while "Red," trying to get down to second, was also killed. Shafer singled and was caught napping. Thus two of the Giants hits were wasted. It was not until the seventh that the New Yorkers came across with anything that looked like a run. Merkle again started the trouble, by beating out slow roller, after Becker had been put out. Murray then inserted a double, which scored Merkle with the first run. The right fielder himself scored on Fletcher's single after Shafer had filed out and Meyers had purposely been passed. Matty flied out, so that the inning ended with the Giants only two runs to the good, and two men on the bases. The visitors made a bid for another run in the eighth, but Devore, who had reached third, failed to get across. In the ninth it was different, for the New Yorkers landed on Suggs for three hits, and converted two of them into runs. YANKEES BOMBARD SOX

Sterrett Does Some Brilliant Work in the Field for Home Team.

Any sounds of cannonading that may have been heard yesterday afternoon were not due to the overexuberance of the trap rock blasters up Rockland County way; they were merely the reverberations of the heavy bombardment that was going on at American League Park, where the Yankees hammered and pounded a pair of White Sox pitchers to their hearts' content. This slashing the ball around at will is getting to be a habit of the Yan-kees of late, and it is little wonder that they scored a 13 to 3 victory over the Chicago club. Aside from being a game of good, healthy, heavy hitting, it was a contest of classy fielding, on the Yankees' part, at Harry Lord was the only one of the opposition who did anything at all startling in a fielding way, but with New York it was different. Sterrett, the Princeton boy; Martin and Chase all fig. ured in sensational catches, stops or throws that made the hilltop outfit look like champions, as compared with the Sox. Of the triumvirate of nifty fielders the crown went to Sterrett, for he pulled off some catches in centre field that would have done honor to a veteran, and one of them was a beautiful stab of Colling drive in the sixth inning, checked an in cipient Sox rally and shut off a couple of runs. For that he got a round of heart cheering from the six thousand "fan" who were on hand. Ray Fisher twirled a splendid game &

the Yankees and had the satisfaction of getting his first victory of the season Once in a while he got in a tight place but the steady and helpful backing of h mates pulled him out of danger. After SUGGS EASY FOR VISITORS he had a commanding lead behind him h could afford to ease down, but he kept going at the same steady pace, and t best the Sox could do was to gather well scattered hits. One of these was home run, and there were also a coun of triples and one double, so that the total bases made off his delivery was the only jarring note of his afternoon o triumph.

Opposed to Fisher were a couple fledgelings, Peters and Bell. Callahan le Peters hold sway for seven innings, h which time the Yankees were not at al hesitant in gathering in the runs. When Peters retired to the bench they had acquired a total of eight tallies. Bell was not quite right, for a gear slipped or something else happened, and before he had retired the side five more runs had been counted by the gluttonous Yankeen The Yankees started out nicely, first by retiring the Sox with ease, in the One has only to look at the score to first session of the opening inning, and lambasting them. That first inning was an exceedingly luscious one for the Hilltop nine. Daniels waited profitably and
